| Yesss!!! The computer is back up and running fine.

| While I was waiting for DFI to reply to me email, I kept rolling the problems around in my mind. I realized that I had not changed the order of boot drives at any point. The order was Floppy, HDD, CD-ROM. I had never tried CD-ROM as the first or second option.

|

| So, I re ordered the list and the CD-ROM took hold on the first try. I hit 'r' as you had instructed and then renamed the files that you told me to rename. I re-established the boot drive order and let it boot. It works fine.

| I've created a ERD and I've run a complete virus scan with Norton Enterprise Edition. Nothing was detected.

| Dave, I really appreciate your advice and your patience. Thank you very much.
