I am having the exact same problem. Except with Windows Small Business Server 2000. Two of them actually. Separate servers, on separate networks with 2 completely separate clients.

Only thing in common with the two servers though, is that they both had a primary hard drive mirror failure, where we had to replace the HDD and recreate the mirror.

We cannot copy / cut and paste in Windows. Either using Explorer or My Computer. We can, however, copy using DOS and as dizzy said, we can also copy when connecting to a shared folder from a workstation.
