Hi, I have Windows xp with service pack 1. I recently tried to download service pack 2 and my pc got messed up and had to restart it. When i set the users all of my old files appeared in my documents. the problem is I can't access any of the files in that folder including my pictures and my music. All the files are there but when i try to access them I get a message that access is denied, what should I do????

please help

thx
