My PC has XP Home Edition OEM, and presently after updating the .NET file(s) from MS, I am now presented with the option to click on Owner to enter. I would like to use a simple password however, as some small protection, and NOT become an administrator, which I don't want to be. And what should one do to change from Owner to Owner with password?

Basically I find the whole question of passwords/administrator maybe the most confusing thing about XP.
