

Re: System Volume Information folder – Access Denied message

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.basics/2004-09/3466.html>

---

harris99_at_earthlink.net

Date: 09/20/04

Date: Mon, 20 Sep 2004 06:27:18 GMT

Sorry for the premature post someone in an earlier article answer my question. I typed the following on the command line" cacls "driveletter:\System Volume Information" /E /G username:F

which resolved my issues

thanks again
bern

On Mon, 20 Sep 2004 05:47:18 GMT, harris99@earthlink.net wrote:

>I've got a standalone laptop comp , I am the Administrator and i have >a user account. I get an Access denied message when attempting to open >the "System Volume Information" folder to investigate System Restore.
>Yes all the appropriate options are checked or unchecked in "Tools > >Folder Options" in Windows explorer. Why am I getting this message on >my XP Pro machine?
>thanks in advance
>
>Bern