The Fastest File Search Tool

Known Software announces the availability of Turbo Searcher 2.40 for Windows, a file search application that allows users to find their computer documents very quickly.

Turbo Searcher is the fastest file search tool, and can even search for files located on local or network computers. Just type in the search terms and press ENTER, and the results will be listed in less than one second. Turbo Searcher provides powerful search options such as searches by file name, by folder, by file modified date, by file size, and other advanced features. It supports One Click Searches for image, music and video files, and allows users to define their own One Click Search options. Turbo Searcher can save search results that can be opened and reviewed later.

Turbo Searcher has a powerful search engine for searching text within files, and displays Introductory Text in the search results so you don't need open the files to preview the contents. Turbo Searcher also supports searches within PDF files, without that need to install PDF software on your computer.

Turbo Searcher supports search duplicate files in your local computer or network computers, provides six comparison levels for different purposes, such as comparing file name, file size, file CRC32 values, file MD5 values and Byte-By-Byte comparison, etc.

Designed to work on Windows 98/ME/2000/XP, Turbo Searcher has its own index technology for significantly speeding up the search process. Turbo Searches
