First, I'm sorry for my late respond to your questions. Have been out all day and am now back in the evening (central European time)

Yes I have had Norton AV autoprotect on. Tried now with it off, but same result. Then I use Zone Alarm and the log says nothing when I don't succeed to come in to the web. Also nothing when I really manage to ping a PC on internet. But there are quite many blockings in outgoing direction from 'Generic Host Process for Win32 Services' but that is on times when I do nothing with the PC. There are also some outgoing blockings for 'type: Firewall 'with 'protocol: TCP(flag:S)' when I don't try to get out.

Then there is a firewall in the D-link router box, but I do not find any log.
/ Rolf
