

Re: How do you reload a corrupt browser

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.basics/2005-11/msg00454.html>

- From: "Harry Ohrn" <harry---@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 10 Nov 2005 09:22:45 -0600
-

"Marty" <Marty@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:7D5DB051-6113-4C12-B9EF-7DE34048901D@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
>I have MS Internet Explorer 6.0 with SP2 on my PC, but when MS update or >any > other program looks at this, it thinks I have a Mac or just hangs up. I > think the browser is corrupt. How do I uninstall and reinstall it OR fix > the > portion of the software that thinks it is a Mac?

What message are you seeing that makes reference your PC being seen as a Mac? I haven't heard of this before. Do you have a third party browser installed?

Thanks.
--

Harry Ohrn MS-MVP [Shell\User]
www.webtree.ca/windowsxp

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: How do you reload a corrupt browser
 - ◇ From: Colin Barnhorst
 - Prev by Date: Re: PrintScreen in XP-Pro
 - Next by Date: Re: Symantec Error
 - Previous by thread: Re: How do you reload a corrupt browser
 - Next by thread: Re: How do you reload a corrupt browser
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread