

Re: vexira antivirus program

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.basics/2006-03/msg00187.html>

- From: "Martin Foster" <sossntom@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 04 Mar 2006 18:45:17 -0000
-

On Thu, 02 Mar 2006 20:30:56 -0000, Ken Blake, MVP <kblake@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

Stephen Larivee wrote:

I have been asked to look into an antivirus program to use for a public school system. It is at www.centralcommand.com and it is called Vexira. I had never heard of it. Has anyone used it? Does anyone have any feedback on the plusses or minusses with this program?

Currently we are using Symantec Enterprise, but someone told me that this Vexira program was able to detect viruses more thoroughly than Symantec. I am skeptical!!

Never heard of it. It sounds like something for erectile dysfunction.

On their web site, under "Latest Vexira Updates," it says 02/03/2006. If it hasn't been updated in a month, it has to be among the worst products available.

Pay attention to the date format!

—
Martin