

Re: Reinstalling font types

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.basics/2008-04/msg00673.html>

- From: "Nepatsfan" <nepatsfan@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 28 Apr 2008 20:15:46 -0400
-

"4justice" <quinnkathy59@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:ac9bbf8c-96d8-49a2-8ea5-00043a54ca53@xx>

Somehow, 1 of my kids made 2 of my favorite fonts vanish from the font list : "Bradley Hand" (both types and "Papyrus" (both types). Deliberately, perhaps, but irrelevant. Please advise how to reinstall.

Thanks,

4justice

I checked four Windows XP installations. Three of them don't have those fonts installed. One system does, and it also has Office 2007. That fact along with the info in this Microsoft article lead me to believe that those fonts were installed as part of Microsoft Office 2007.

Fonts that are installed with 2007 Office suites and 2007 Office programs
<http://support.microsoft.com/kb/924623>

If you have Word 2007 installed on your computer, click on the Office button and hit the Word Options button. In Word Options, click on Resources and run Microsoft Office Diagnostics.

Diagnose and repair crashing Office programs by using Office Diagnostics
<http://office.microsoft.com/en-us/help/HA012340761033.aspx#30>

If that doesn't restore the fonts you might want to reinstall Office.

Good luck

Nepatsfan