

USB storage device Question

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.customize/2005-04/msg00208.html>

---

- From: Temper <onehottemper@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Tue, 5 Apr 2005 17:13:01 -0700
-

I am using a program to autorun a program on my usb storage device. How do I get windows to stop popping up the message "This device contains more than one file type what do you want windows to do? I just want it to be plugged in and then windows do nothing to the drive if I need to get in I will go through explorer. I,m running Roboform on the jumpdrive and don't need to get into the drive everytime I plug it up.

—
Temper

-
- Follow-Ups:
    - ◆ Re: USB storage device Question
      - ◇ From: John Thomas Smith
    - ◆ Re: USB storage device Question
      - ◇ From: Anando [MS-MVP]
  - Prev by Date: Re: Searching from IE address bar
  - Next by Date: Manage add-ons
  - Previous by thread: Customize Certain Options
  - Next by thread: Re: USB storage device Question
  - Index(es):
    - ◆ Date
    - ◆ Thread