

Re: Deleting ActiveX Controls

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.customize/2005-12/msg00634.html>

- From: "Kurious" <kurious@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 31 Dec 2005 16:08:50 -0500
-

Tx for reply. Had checked where you suggested and ones would like to delete not listed. Have 15 ActiveX Controls under Manage Add-ons and only 5 listed in Downloaded Programs or under View Objects; none of which are ones I've disabled or want to delete.

Will just leave ones don't need as disabled.

"Sharon F" <sharonfDEL@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

news:e3MDvOcDGHA.1264@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> On Fri, 30 Dec 2005 21:37:37 -0500, Kurious wrote:

>

>> Would like to delete some of the disabled ActiveX Controls

>> under Manage Add-ons in Internet Explorer Properties >> that no longer need. Can this be done and, if so, where >> do I locate them to remove? Tx for any info.

>

> You could use Internet Options> General> Temporary Internet Files>

> Details>

> View Objects and delete from there. Or open Explorer/My Computer to the > Windows\Downloaded Programs folder. Right click on unwanted activex > controls and select uninstall.

>

> --

> Sharon F

> MS-MVP ~ Windows Shell/User

- References:

- ◆ Deleting ActiveX Controls

- ◇ From: Kurious

- ◆ Re: Deleting ActiveX Controls

- ◇ From: Sharon F

- Prev by Date: Re: change tooltip text in XP Quick Launch url shortcut icon

- Previous by thread: Re: Deleting ActiveX Controls

- Next by thread: Phantom printer removal

- Index(es):

- ◆ Date

- ◆ Thread