first of all , im slightly computer-stupid. i bought a hewlett packard that came with "windows xp home" already installed (no disc came with this - oh boy!). eventually, my comp pooped itself. since i have no boot disc, i go to my university library and pick up a copy of "windows xp pro" (they didnt have "home"). i took it home and followed all the steps it says to follow.

and now for the past 3 months i havent been able to change my screen resolution or hear sound. my device manager has some "other devices" listed. those are the "multimedia audio controller, sm bus controller, and video controller (vga compatible)". all of these say "The drivers for this device are not installed. (Code 28)"
---i ASSUME my problems stem from the "missing drivers" ??????

System Manufacturer: HP Pavilion 05
System Model: DB215A-ABA 563w
System Type: X86-based PC

....i have no idea what drivers i need or where to get them from.....someone help, please?

an email response would be preferable since i will forget that i posted here...
