

Re: Problem when adding a component in Target Designer

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.embedded/2004-11/0459.html>

From: KM (konstmor_at_nospam_yahoo.com)

Date: 11/12/04

Date: Fri, 12 Nov 2004 12:06:23 -0800

hanleyh1,

Can you check if for the troublesome files from the list below the GUID was generated? Open the SLD in CD again, got to component's Files section, find the file and open its Advanced Properties. Find ComponentVSGUID extended property and see if it is all "0"-s or something else. If "0", click New, save SLD, re-import and try to build again.

Let us know if it helps.

--

Regards,

KM, BSquare Corp.

```
> I created a component (really just a import of a .inf to create and intel > graphics chipset component), using the component designer. I folowed the > steps in Sean Liming's Windows XP Embedded Advanced book, and these same > steps worked for a Dell Monitor driver component I created earlier. However, > when I try to add the component to my configuration in the Target Designer, I > get:
>
> Info      101: Initializing new component: "Intel(R) Graphics Chipset (KCH)
> Driver [Version 5.00.2195.1, R3]"
> Warning  1116: Adding unreleased component to configuration: "Intel(R)
> Graphics Chipset (KCH) Driver [Version 5.00.2195.1, R3]"
> Warning  1121: Can not find file resource paths for 'Intel(R) Graphics > Chipset (KCH) Driver'. Please check the component definition.
> Warning  1121: The estimated configuration size may not be accurate.
> Info      101: Estimated footprint: 0 Bytes
>
>
> What does the 'could not find file resource paths mean? The files are in > the repository. The package/component look fine when I examine them in the > component database.
>
>
> If I look at the Source Size column for the files under the component, they > are all 0 bytes. And If I try to build, I then get:
>
> Error    1005: File not found: "ikch8xx.cat"
> Error    1005: File not found: "IKCH8XX.INF"
> Error    1005: File not found: "ialmkchw.sys"
```

microsoft.public.windowsxp.embedded: Re: Problem when adding a component in Target Designer

```
>
> Any ideas why I can't successfully add the component to the configuration?
>
> -hanleyh1@hotmail.com
>
```