I guess the guardian writes to the host file. If you want to check, open
C:\WINDOWS\system32\drivers\etc\host with your wordpad utility and have a look.

Hi Jimmy,

I fixed it.....software conflict. Was runnign peer guardian for p2p and once this was disabled pogo works fine, not a problem, so i suppose this shows peer guradian does what it is supposed to do. Thanks for your help and time it was much appreciated.

Hi Mummybear,

Interesting.. are you able to access other internet sites from that machine?
How about: <http://games.yahoo.com> or <http://zone.msn.com> ?

Virtual Machine.

||||| Install Flash from:

<http://sdc.shockwave.com/shockwave/download/frameset.fhtml>

|||||

||||| B. Most other game sites still use Java. You can install Java and find more help

||||| tips at this webpage: <http://java.com/en/download/help/pogo.jsp>

|||||

||||| C. If the online game still won't load, or gives you errors, try these steps:

||||| 1. Click START / Control Panel / Internet Options and click on the Advanced Tab.

||||| 2. Below HTTP 1.1 is the Sun Java/ Microsoft VM section: Make sure all Java choices

||||| are unchecked (especially JIT) and then press [OK]. You may be prompted to reboot.

|||||

||||| 3. If you don't see a Microsoft VM section then download Microsoft Virtual Machine for:

||||| Windows 98 / Me / NT / XP from:

<http://www.abxair.com/software/msjavx86.exe>

||||| 4. After you download Java, double-click the file to install it, reboot and then follow

||||| the directions in Steps 1. and 2..to disable JIT compiler and other advanced options.

|||||

||||| * Whenever you get a Java Virtual Machine Security Update from Windows Update, you

||||| will have to follow Steps 1. and 2..to disable JIT compiler and other adv. options again.

|||||

||||| 6. If the problem persists Adjust Your browser settings using this basic example:

||||| <http://www3.sympatico.ca/nibblesnbits/EnterRooms.html#IE>

|||||

||||| 7. Try these suggestions for Zone's Java Games:

||||| <http://classic.zone.msn.com/zzzz/help/helpjavagames.asp>

|||||

||||| 8. Maybe it's a software conflict: Make certain that your Firewall or Antivirus program is

||||| not configured to block Java Applets. Norton's products for example have that option.

||||| Regardless, temporarily disable Startup programs one at a time, starting with Firewall,

||||| Antivirus, AdBlockers, & Internet Accelerators using the method in this article:

||||| <http://support.microsoft.com/?scid=331796>

||||| or this utility: <http://new.jtsoft2001.com/windows/startup.php>

Re: Downloading Pogo Games

||||| 9. If you have a Coffee Cup icon in your system tray (next to the time) you might have a
||||| conflict between MS VM and Java: Uninstall Java using Control Panel / Remove Programs.
||||| 10. Run a MS AntiSpyware Scan: www.microsoft.com/spyware
||||| that site. There is usually an email or a (non Java) help chat available as well. :-)
