an uninstall on microsoft explorer....and it removed the explorer name that was there on the uninstall list....There was still an icon on the tool bar after I went back in so I knew that something wasn't right....after trying to reinstall from an explorer file I had saved from another computer for internet explorer it stated that a newer version was detected....I then discovered through my searching for answers that explorer came imbedded with xp and couldn't be removed...and yet...it still doesn't show
