

Re: Bret!! (zbret9!!!) Please read...

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-03/1321.html>

---

From: bret (zbret9_at_hotpop.com)

Date: 03/02/04

Date: 1 Mar 2004 23:48:38 -0800

Just download the windows 98 boot disk from the site Kelly suggested. Put the file on a floppy and boot your computer with the floppy. When the A:\ come up just type in FDISK. Delete the non-Dos partition. Then Boot your computer with your XP disk You will be able to make a new partition, reformat and load XP. Good Luck!

"AmySuzanne" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:<490201c3ff99$d48f0dd0$a001280a@phx.gbl>...

> Hey Bret,
> I was keeping up with both of your posts since this is the > same problem I am having with my computer. The last post
> I read was you were able to fix it. Here is what you > wrote:
>
> Problem Solved...
>>
> >Like I said, windows xp wouldnt allow me to reinstall, > restore, repair > >or delete the partitions with my XP CD. I kept getting > the blue > >screen when I tried to initiate these processes. The > simple solution
> >was to use the FDISK utility to delete the partitions.
> After that I > >was able to reformat and reinstall XP.
>
> Now, can you tell me step by step how you did this? I am > hoping it will fix mine also! Thanks, Bret!!
> Amy