

Re: error report: image.dll

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-03/15053.html>

---

From: Rick \ (rick_at_mvps.org)

Date: 03/16/04

Date: Tue, 16 Mar 2004 06:59:41 -0500

Hi Chris,

That file is part of hte problem, and you really don't want it. Please see:

<http://securityresponse.symantec.com/avcenter/venc/data/adware.ifeats.html>

--

Best of Luck,

Rick Rogers aka "Nutcase" MS-MVP - Win9x

Windows isn't rocket science! That's my other hobby!

<http://mvp.support.microsoft.com/>

Associate Expert - WinXP - Expert Zone

www.microsoft.com/windowsxp/expertzone

Win98 Help - www.rickrogers.org

"chris" <Chrisdub@pacbell.net> wrote in message

news:e16401c40b36$26f4bf50$a101280a@phx.gbl...

> I had a bug that hijacked my home page and sent it to a > phony microsoft search engine every time i restarted my > computer.

> I got rid of the bug but now every time i start my > computer I get an error message dialogue box that > states "Error trouble loading image.dll"

>

> How can I get rid of this annoyance permanantly?

>

> Thanks for the help,

> Chris