Hi

I just noticed that the (stand by) button is greyed out when turning off my computer . Also, the Hibernate button is missing. I found some forum where in a similar problem the user was asked to press the shift key after clicking on Start-->turn off. In addition, and worse of all when I boot up the computer. I am asked to press F4 to resume. After pressing F4 my system works fine. (I only have one copy of windows XP installed on my system). Can someone please email me a solution to this problem.

Thank You
