

microsoft.public.windowsxp.general: Re: Where are my icons – Windows Classic View – in WinXP

Re: Where are my icons – Windows Classic View – in WinXP

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-05/2860.html>

---

From: peweed (peweed1\_at\_yahoo.com)

Date: 05/03/04

Date: Mon, 03 May 2004 12:29:39 GMT

Hello Ken,

Thanks for your reply! The info you provided contains a quick fix for my problem.

I will post again to find a solution to the root of my problem.

I upgraded my HD and cloned my partitions onto the new drive. After removing the old drive my boot, Win XP reassigned my boot partition (ie. H\:) and no C:\. I have not been able to find a way to change the boot partition to be C: (other than by using the logical solution described in your post using subst).

For background:

My old drive was configured to dual boot to win 98; so there were several partitions. After cloning, I started the PC and into XP. (!mistake!) XP assigned drive letters to the new drive as usually (h, i, j ...). Afterwards I removed the old drive. XP did not reorganize the drive letters when the lower letters (c, d, e) were removed. I was able to manually reassign drive letter for all except the current boot partition.

Wes

"Keith Miller" <k.miller79@verizon.net> wrote in message news:eguBiYyLEHA.2704@TK2MSFTNGP10.phx.gbl...
Maybe this will help:

The Folders Bar in Windows Explorer Does Not Contain Any Icons (Q307028)
<http://support.microsoft.com/default.aspx?scid=kb:en-us:Q307028>

Keith

"Peweed" <peweed1@yahoo.com> wrote in message

Re: Where are my icons – Windows Classic View – in WinXP

microsoft.public.windowsxp.general: Re: Where are my icons – Windows Classic View – in WinXP

news:nOCkc.134169$e17.25433@twister.nyroc.rr.com...

- > I have changed Windows XP folder to the Windows Classic View.
- > Now, under Window Explorer in the left pane "Folder", no icons are display
- > before the name of my folders.
- > What is see is a '+' then the folder name. What happened to the icon the
- > usually go after the '+' and before the folder name?
- > How can I get the icon to reappear? The right pane that lists subfolders
- > and files looks OK.
- >
- > Thanks
- > peweed
- >
- >
- >