Hi to All,

I have a problem with the long response, when starting Properties of c: (and all other drives) in Explorer. The response time is about +20seconds. There is Novell client software on the workstation (Windows XP Professional & SP1 & all hotfixes). When I remove the Novell client, the response time is a fraction of "normal" response. Workstations are members of Windows 2003 Active Directory. The name resolution is restricted to the FQDN (DNS and no WINS is on the system, NetBIOS over TCP/IP is disabled). Out of domain servers (UNIX and Novell are included in the host file.

Can someone explain the problem?

Regards,
Milos
