Checkpoint:

The values that are removed from the Run key are transferred to the following registry key after an upgrade:

HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Setup\DisabledRunKeys

Each value that is under this key corresponds to a run item (program) that had been disabled by Setup. The format for the values is the same as the original values in the following registry key:

HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE\Software\Microsoft\Windows\CurrentVersion\Run

When you restore these values by using the Restore Startup Programs option, they are moved from the registry value in DisabledRunKeys back to the Run key.

To do so, go to Start/Run/Msconfig/Startup/Restore Startup Programs
