

microsoft.public.windowsxp.general: Re: Operating System XP Hangs Up after insertion of CD

Re: Operating System XP Hangs Up after insertion of CD

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-06/30405.html>

From: Nathan McNulty (525676_at_microsoft.com)

Date: 06/30/04

Date: Wed, 30 Jun 2004 00:37:34 -0700

My system has been doing that recently as well on SP2 RC2. I have disabled Autorun which seems to have fixed any problems of locking up. This is not a good solution though, but it will work in the meantime. Hopefully you and me both can get a little help here :)

Unfortunately, I think it is the CD/DVD Drive that is causing the problems and not Windows (at least on my end).

Nathan McNulty

levy wrote:

> my workstation sometimes hangs up when i insert some compact disk (cd); as in it hangs up; no mouse movement; no LED display in numlock, capslock, scroll lock; by cold booting the pc and not ejecting the cd in the drive the data can be read. i already update the needed patches and critical fixes, but still same problem occurs.