You will be glade you did in the long run as it will install everything at once. You can reformat the hard drive with the newest NTFS version and use a better cluster size at install time by deleting the current partition.*

Don't waste money on buying XP Pro for a machine for the Kids. And you will be able to get SP2 on a CD for free, to run on a copy of XP purchased now. The Pro or SP2 will not make any difference about being able to install NTFS
