Unbelievable! I did some more searching. I knew I was infected with some malware and apparently it is related to this. I deleted a bunch of stuff with spybot and adaware a few months ago to try and get rid of it and thats about when I got the error messages so apparently this is what is causing the problems? The instructions for getting rid of this stuff are so far beyond me (<http://forums.windrivers.com/showthread.php?t=57348>) it's not even funny. I think it would be easier to just reformat my hard drive and start over with better protection in place. What a pain! I wish I had my own personal coach to walk me through all this bs.
