

Re: administrator password

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-08/14663.html>

---

From: clintonG (csgallagher_at_REMOVETHISTEXTmetromilwaukee.com)

Date: 08/13/04

Date: Fri, 13 Aug 2004 10:31:51 -0500

That sounds right. Is there a problem?

```
--
<%= Clinton Gallagher, "Twice the Results -- Half the Cost" Architectural & e-Business Consulting -- Software Development
    NET csgallagher@REMOVETHISTEXTmetromilwaukee.com
    URL http://www.metromilwaukee.com/clintongallagher/
"frustrated" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:5ce801c48147$15164a60$a401280a@phx.gbl... > i'm using xp pro, and the password i had set at install
> is the administrator password right?
>
> >-----Original Message-----
> >if you are using XP home then you can only login as > >admin
> >in safe mode and there is no password (blank), if it is > >XP
> >Pro you had set this at install.
> >
> >Post back to let us know what version of windows you > >have.
> >
> >>-----Original Message-----
> >>i was trying to "recover" my computer using the > >>installation disc and i was prompted for the > >>administrator > >>password. is it the same password i use to login in my > >>administrator account? because i tried to use that > >>password it keeps telling me "wrong password" although > > i > >>have typed it carefully 15 times, and i made sure the > >>caps
> >>and num locks are correct, and my password is in the > >>correct case. could anyone tell me what is the > >>administrator password? thanks
> >>.
> >>
> >.
> >
```