

Xp File permissions got me stumped

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-08/5591.html>

From: garwil (anonymous_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 08/05/04

Date: Thu, 5 Aug 2004 14:14:42 -0700

HI,

I have been through the forum here and tried everything suggested to resolve the inability to change file permissions. The permissions persistently remain at READ ONLY. Even if I change it by removing the tick the system asks me if it must apply to all the files/ folders etc and when I say "yes" it appears to be changing the files..the screen refreshes etc but when I re-open the folder permissions the tick is back there in a shaded box...I have change the permissions globally under my C drive to one of EVERYONE-FULL CONTROL and to all files /folders below that level...nothing helps..

It used to work fine---about 4 days after installation it started on its own mission and I have not been able to control it ever since...

Anyone with any other ideas..??

P.S. I AM ON A lan with another PC (also with same version XP)

Rgds