Start | Run | Type: services.msc | OK |
Scroll down to and double click: Server |
Set to: Automatic | Apply | Start button | OK

If you do not see the Server service listed.....

This will restore the Server Service (lanmanserver).

Open Network Connections, click Start, point to Settings, click Control Panel, and then double-click Network Connections. | Right click Your Connection | Properties | General tab | Install button | Highlight: Service | Add button | Highlight: File and Printer Sharing for Microsoft Networks | OK | Close

Server

[[Used for file and print sharing from your computer or Message Queuing. For security purposes, you may disable this service if you do not require local printers and files shared across your network. Connectivity, however, still exists even on incoming shared network drives. Workstation needs to be running to connect to another computer that has the files you are looking for. Note: If you disable File and Print sharing, the Server Service may disappear from the Services listing. Just enable File and Print sharing again and the Server Service will return.]]

%SystemRoot%\System32\svchost.exe -k netsvcs

[[Supports file, print, and named-pipe sharing over the network for this computer. If this service is stopped, these functions will be unavailable. If this service is disabled, any services that explicitly depend on it will fail to start.]]
