Justin, I don't think the OP needs to uninstall Service Pack 2. This should never be the first troubleshooting step. And please quote some of the original post for clarity when you respond.

To the OP – If you are making .iso's, then you are using third-party burning software like Nero or Roxio. Go to that mftr.'s website and look for a patch for your program. Nero, for instance, has patches for its programs to make them compatible with SP2. Download them, install, and your burning should work again.
