i have both my laptop and desktop networked using microsoft broadband networking wireless g base station model mn-700. my laptop is showing 2 icons for the 2 harddrives on my desktop but they both have a red x on the bar below them. when i click on the hard drive icon a message "the network path was not found. this connection had not been restored" appears. when i try to network the hard drive from my laptop to my desktop the same message appears. how can i resolve this issue?
