

Cookies and Internet Explorer

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-11/4959.html>

From: Cotton (Cotton_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 11/07/04

Date: Sun, 7 Nov 2004 13:08:01 -0800

Has anyone come across an instance whereby IE will not allow you to sign into a user name/password protected website that uses cookies. Am not a techie but what I'm told is that the website uses a cookie when you try to log in but something is deleting the cookie straight away and therefore am returned immediately to the log in screen. Only happens on certain configurations (eg my home pc but not office) in IE, no problem in Netscape. Any clues?