

RE: CMD Slowing machine

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2004-12/9123.html>

From: Boenerge (Boenerge_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 12/13/04

Date: Mon, 13 Dec 2004 08:15:03 -0800

> Hi Boenerge!!
> Hm, i am amazed that there is cmd runnin in da task manager??izzit in da > background or foreground? is this matter juz happened or it had been happenin > long time ago since you start using?? well, some viruses use stealth status > that it cant be detected by almost all anti-viruses program. Also some > viruses injects itself into other application and it is dificult for > anti-virus software to scan. So all you gotta do is to investigate this > virus. Try ending task at task manager one by one and try your machine. then > if u get the correct name for the virus, try to search that file and delete > it in 'safe mode'. (only delete application that u suspect there is virus).
> From the list you showed, i can name you some of adware/spyware you have got.
> well, hope it helps. Byezzz!!!~~~

Thanks Taipan 541,

It is running in the background. If I close CMD the machine works fine. I have tried the norton's virus scanner, Ad Aware and spybot and all come up clean. How can I get the name for the virus?

Boenerge