Tonight I pulled my video card and reseated it. Now when I boot up I get the screen with "safe mode, command prompt, your most recent settings that worked, etc". It does not matter which option I choose, the computer will just restart and take me back to the exact same menu of options. I have tried all the options and I keep coming back to the same place – I am stuck in a loop. Can anyone tell me how to get past this loop and to my desktop? All help appreciated.
