

microsoft.public.windowsxp.general: Re: how to block access for outer LANs?

Re: how to block access for outer LANs?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-01/19371.html>

---

From: remove (bcrawfordjr(remove)_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 01/24/05

Date: Mon, 24 Jan 2005 07:14:43 -0800

cubus <cubus@cubus.com> typed out:

- > Small LAN, 4 pcs. There are also few other LANs. All LANs connected to
- > internet through one router; there are also switch between our LANs and
- > router.
- >
- > How to block access to our LAN ( 'shared doc' folder) for all outer LANs?
- > (access via 'My Network Places')

Use a firewall and deny access to the IP addresses (or Computer's Names) of the network computers. If these computers have a Static IP then use the IP address. If the computers do not have a static IP then use the Computer's Name.

--

William