

RE: thawing a hard drive?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-02/8737.html>

From: smom (smom_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 02/04/05

Date: Fri, 4 Feb 2005 13:11:01 -0800

I mean it was set up in a "frozen state" not literally "frozen"...

Pam

"smom" wrote:

- > I am on a computer that has had the boot drive frozen. It was done to help
- > prevent messing up software. However, I now have it, and need to set things
- > up like printer drivers, and software. This works only until I restart the
- > computer. So, I am seeking help...How can I thaw the drive so that material
- > can be saved to it?
- > Pam