This can be caused by a number of things. You can try deleting the user from the command line:

```
net user <username> /delete [/domain]

If this does not work try renaming the account and then deleting it.

I'm signed on to the Administrator account on a machine on a wireless network. When I click Start/Control Panel/User Accounts and click the account icon, there is no option to delete that account. How do I get rid of this user? TIA.
