

How do I start Recovery CD?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-04/msg13484.html>

- From: "jeffers" <webwizard@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 24 Apr 2005 10:39:33 -0700
-

I have an ACER Aspire 1700 Desknote that came with XP Pro. loaded and a recovery CD

Due to recent virus infection I had damaged system files that weren't allowing operation of certain programs and system functions, "system restore" for example.

The recovery CD was no help, so I formatted by use of an XP home CD that I have, and loaded XP Home.

I loaded all the drivers, etc. by use of the System CD that came with my Aspire (CD1) but I cannot access such things as NTI CD maker that is included in the harddrive image on the recovery CD (CD2).

How do I create an environment where the recovery CD will work?
It isn't even mentioned in the manual provided

Regards Keith Jeffers

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: How do I start Recovery CD?
 - ◇ From: D@annyBoy
 - ◆ Re: How do I start Recovery CD?
 - ◇ From: Shenan Stanley
 - Prev by Date: Access to programs
 - Next by Date: RE: CD Drives
 - Previous by thread: Access to programs
 - Next by thread: Re: How do I start Recovery CD?
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread