

Re: Windows XP registration

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-05/msg12324.html>

- From: "Bob Knowlden" <nkbob@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 21 May 2005 17:24:39 -0400
-

For starters, you might find out what product key was used to install XP:

<http://www.magicaljellybean.com/keyfinder.shtml>

Address scrambled. Replace nkbob with bobkn.

"tosime" <tosime@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:ujHhSEjXFHA.616@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

> My laptop had windowsXP pre-installed. I have the product key sticker on > the > bottom of the laptop. A vendor had to reinstall WindowsXP to enable my > laptop connect to our network. They could not find my original disk so > they > used their own windowsxp as a temporary solution. What do I do now? Can I > avoid buying a new windowsxp? I suspect someone may have used my original > disk and registered it with my key.
>
>

• References:

- ◆ Windows XP registration
◇ From: tosime

- Prev by Date: Re: "Enable third-party browser extensions" ?
- Next by Date: Printer installation error
- Previous by thread: Re: Windows XP registration
- Next by thread: Re: Reinstall 4 Time in ONE month
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread