

Re: function key macros under XP

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-05/msg16854.html>

- From: Thorsten Matzner <tmatzner@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 30 May 2005 08:38:59 +0200
-

Larry__Weiss <lfw@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

>I might be overlooking something obvious, but ever since I've started using >a Windows OS (95, 98, 2000, XP) I haven't figured out how to map character >strings to the F1 F2 ... F10 F11 F12 function keys, and replay them as >needed when editing (command line, text edit, etc.).
>
>Is there capability provided in XP to do this?

No. You need third-party software like in Windows 9x. You could look for such programs at sites like <http://www.tucows.com/>, <http://www.simtel.net/simtel.net/>.

--

(tm)

ICQ: 192649233

.

• References:

- ◆ function key macros under XP

◇ From: Larry__Weiss

- Prev by Date: Re: Windows Freezes
- Next by Date: Microsoft scanner and camera wizard
- Previous by thread: function key macros under XP
- Next by thread: Windows Freezes
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread