There were no fixes that worked for my particular problem at Kelly Theriot's site.

I ran the cleanmgr no change.

I cannot say if it has ever worked correctly. I have two different GIS programs installed on the computer and when I first installed them one of the two caused some problems so I uninstalled both then did a repair from the Microsoft XP operating system disk. I then reinstalled both programs which now work. The current problem may or may not be linked to them but I would have thought that the reinstall would have corrected any problems. I have kept my windows updates current also. I was hoping that there might be a problem fix there but no luck.
