

Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-07/msg00314.html>

---

- From: "Jim Macklin" <p51mustang[threeX12]@xxxhotmail.calm>
  - Date: Fri, 1 Jul 2005 09:58:14 -0500
-

That page is called the WELCOME SCREEN and it should have a few words along and near the lower left corner of the screen that will open page that offers the options to restart, shutdown or hibernate.

Your screen resolution may be set incorrectly so that message doesn't show.

Using Control+Alt+Del keys at same time should open a boot / logon menu which should offer shutdown options.

I am using XP Pro, and I have not looked for other means since I do have the shutdown link on the Welcome Screen.

---

The people think the Constitution protects their rights;
But government sees it as an obstacle to be overcome.
some support
<http://www.usdoj.gov/olc/secondamendment2.htm>

"PeterM" <pmaston@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:WaOdnTGsHYnzyFjfRVn-uA@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
| Thanks for your help.....I may have not explained
it correctly.

| When I start my computer, when Windows is loaded, all I see is a blue screen
| with 3 names, my log on names for my grandson, my daughter and myself. What
| I like to do is shut down the computer from that screen, w/o having to log
| in first.

|
| "Jim Macklin" <p51mustang[threeX12]@xxxhotmail.calm> wrote in message
|news:uWrhuAgfFHA.1148@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?

|> If you mean the Welcome Screen, there is a shutdown link on
|> the lower left area. Or use Ctrl–Alt–Del to open the Task
|> Manager which has a shutdown link.
|>
|>
|> --
|> The people think the Constitution protects their rights;
|> But government sees it as an obstacle to be overcome.
|> some support
|> <http://www.usdoj.gov/olc/secondamendment2.htm>
|>
|>
|>
|> "PeterM" <pmaston@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
|> news:xsKdnTVzibx2X1nfRVn-vQ@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
|> |I use Win XP Home, and like to log off, but only have my
|> three log–ons on my
|> | desktop. Can I add a log off icon? or is there another
|> way?.....Many
|> | thanks.....Peter
|> |
|>
|>
|>
|

---

• Follow–Ups:

- ◆ Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?
◇ From: PeterM

• References:

- ◆ Can I shut down w/o logging in first?
◇ From: PeterM
- ◆ Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?
◇ From: Jim Macklin
- ◆ Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?
◇ From: PeterM

- Prev by Date: Re: How make Win Explorer open new drives in same window?
- Next by Date: Re: Isass Boot Error
- Previous by thread: Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?
- Next by thread: Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date

Re: Can I shut down w/o logging in first?

◆ Thread