

Re: Where are the passwords kept?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-07/msg04152.html>

- From: "Jeff" <jeff@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 8 Jul 2005 21:17:33 -0400
-

In news:u%23N7uT\$gFHA.3124@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx,
R. McCarty <PcEngWork-NoSpam_@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> posted:
|| Forms/Passwords are stored as encrypted data in the Registry.
|| You're limited to what actions you can take on them. For a
|| password change, XP will prompt that the password is different
|| from what is stored and prompt to save it. For Usernames you
|| can't really edit them, but only Right Click a filled in entry to
|| delete it. If you want to purge all of the stored information you
|| can do that from IE, Tools, Internet Options, Content (TAB)
|| and then the AutoComplete button.

Thank you.

|| "Jeff" <jeff@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
|| news:OT72UP\$gFHA.2444@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
|| | On some websites, XP will automatically fill in for me the blank
|| | fields asking for passwords or addresses, etc. I would like to
|| | edit some of these. Where are the passwords and other field
|| | autofill information kept? I am using XP Home SP-2.
|| |
|| | Thanks.
|| |
|| | --
|| |
|| | Jeff Stevens
|| | Email address deliberately false to avoid spam
|| | jeff@xxxxxxxx

-
- References:
 - ◆ Where are the passwords kept?
 - ◇ From: Jeff
 - ◆ Re: Where are the passwords kept?

Re: Where are the passwords kept?

◇ From: R. McCarty

- Prev by Date: Re: font/unicode question
- Next by Date: Sound level randomly changing
- Previous by thread: Re: Where are the passwords kept?
- Next by thread: Re: Where are the passwords kept?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread