You don't have to do anything. It's just an information notation that if you don't have SP1 or SP2, automatic update won't work.

| Thanks, I installed it after reading your comment below.
| There is now under an "i" a note saying: "Window XP users – new security
| updates are now available for SP1 and S2 only"
| Is this one automatic and I don't have to do anything abo9ut it, or do I
| have to mmanually install it by clicking it, etc? (The contents of what I
| clicked seems complicated, do I installa it manually, or it is installed
| with the automatic updates?)

| Its free, and in addition to supporting Windows, it will also support
Office
| 2003 and some other MS products. Handy to keep up on all the critical
| updates for several applications/platforms.
