

Re: dual modem for dial-up

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-07/msg04831.html>

- From: "hcross" <no-spam@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 10 Jul 2005 09:12:11 -0500
-

thanks for the replies... i'll have to ask. but, there's only one phone line and my parents can't afford to have a second line installed.

--
howard

"hcross" <no-spam@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:uC2ITpPhFHA.576@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
> Greetings,
>
> I read an article that indicated this person was using two 56k modems for > their dial-up. Is this possible with XP sp2?
>
> Were they blowing smoke? They didn't discuss the set up... only that they > were using two modems at the same time and they had a quicker connection > because of it. How would one go about setting up two modems in one > machine? And then, how would you use them simultaneously on the same phone > line?
>
> --
> howard
>
>
>

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: dual modem for dial-up
◇ From: Don Taylor
 - References:
 - ◆ dual modem for dial-up
◇ From: hcross

Re: dual modem for dial-up

- Prev by Date: Re: Updates are ready
- Next by Date: Re: Missing Display Properties
- Previous by thread: Re: dual modem for dial-up
- Next by thread: Re: dual modem for dial-up
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread