

RE: XP Boots Weird

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-07/msg10792.html>

- From: "netdogg" <netdogg@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 20 Jul 2005 19:25:03 -0700
-

My problem is that when i turn on the plug to my computer the harddrive starts up by it self,then the cmos table comes on and i have to enable surtain things before i can boot up its driving me nuts what am i doing wrong?

"Larry" wrote:

- > Ever since I installed XP Home Edition on this computer, it boots up with
 - > problems.
 - >
 - > It always starts 2 copies of Windows Explorer. I can't find anywhere to
 - > stop this from happening. It must be in the registry.
 - >
 - > My Internet Explorer cannot be launched by clicking on a link in my Eudora
 - > email client or my news reader. All it does is go to About:blank. I have
 - > searched for any hijacker that might cause this and came up empty each time.
 - > I suspect it is another registry entry causing this problem too.
 - >
 - > If anyone has any ideas how to fix these issues, I'm willing to try just
 - > about anything.
 - >
 - > Thanks.
 - >
 - > Larry
 - >
 - >
 - >
 - .
-

• References:

- ◆ XP Boots Weird
◇ From: Larry

- Prev by Date: Desktop is freezing
- Next by Date: Re: Application PROVEN to remove Codbot.X from Windows XP
- Previous by thread: XP Boots Weird
- Next by thread: Re: XP Boots Weird

RE: XP Boots Weird

- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread