

Re: Toolbars

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-07/msg15256.html>

- From: "Ramesh, MS-MVP" <ramesh@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 29 Jul 2005 17:41:10 +0530
-

Resetting the toolbar layout settings should fix the problem. See

http://www.dougknox.com/xp/utils/xp_toolbarfix.htm

--

Ramesh, Windows XP MVP
<http://windowsxp.mvps.org>

"barrowhill" <barrowhill@xx> wrote in message
news:DAD48891-5888-4B85-980F-526CFCC7B4E7@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

I have both google and Adobe PDF toolbars installed. I decided I didn't want the Adobe toolbar to be shown so unticked in customise.....I lost google but not Adobe.

Did same for google.....lost adobe not google.

Some how the check marks (ticks) have been assigned to wrong toolbar. How do I correct.