

Re: folder sharing

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-10/msg00423.html>

- From: buffalobill667@xxxxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: Thu, 06 Oct 2005 20:16:11 -0400
-

I tried your suggestion. I set up an account for machine #1 on machine #3. I logged into machine#1 under that account. I then tried to click on #3's icon in the workgroup window. I got the same error message. Machine #1 does not have an account set up for machine#3. Even so I am still able to access shared folders on #1 from machine #3.

Any other suggestions?

On Mon, 3 Oct 2005 22:45:10 +1000, "Pegasus \ (MVP\)" <I.can@xxxxxxx> wrote:

>
>"wale23" <weckstein@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
>news:iumdnZqAStxVidzeRVn-2g@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
>> I have a broadband internet connection and I have set up a home network. I >> have a cable modem which plugs into a router with 3 computers connected to >> it. All the machines are running Windows XP Pro with Service Pack 2. I >> enabled file sharing on all the machines. I have set up folders to share >> on each machine. Previously, all 3 machines had no problems when it comes >to >> sharing folders. This has changed and I can't pinpoint what has happened.
>>
>> Now, each machine is able to see all 3 members of the workgroup. Machines
>#1
>> And #2 can access the shared folders from each other but can't access the >> shared folders of machine #3. When they try they get the following message.
>> "#3 is not accessible. You might not have permission to use this network >> resource. Contact the administrator of this server to find out if you have >> access permissions" However Machine #3 can access the shared folders of >> #1 and #2.
>>
>> The TCP\IP properties for all 3 machines are set up to obtain an IP >address >> automatically. In the advanced TCP\IP settings, the NetBIOS setting under >> the WINS tab is set for "Enable NetBIOS over TCP\IP. I have tried stopping >> and restarting "computer Services" from the Services Management Console. I >> have also tried disabling Windows firewall as well as McAfee firewall.
>> However the problem still remains.

Re: folder sharing

>>

>> I am able to ping machine #3 from #1 and #2. Also I have made sure that >the >> guest account is turned on #3. I have set up different passwords on ## for >> the administrator account. I have set up a password for the administrator >> account when #3 is in safe mode. There is no password for the >administrator >> account when #3 is running regularly.

>>

>> Any assistance would be appreciated

>>

>>

>>

>

>Assuming that you log on as wale23/xxx, make sure that the >account wale23/xxx exists on each and every machine. Don't >use blank passwords and don't use guest accounts.

>

.

-
- Prev by Date: Re: Major system restore problem
 - Next by Date: Re: Locking the Workstation
 - Previous by thread: Re: XP Won't shut down
 - Next by thread: Re: folder sharing
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread