

Re: Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/WinXP/microsoft.public.windowsxp.general/2005-12/msg08837.html>

- From: u446960449@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx (Juergen)
 - Date: Thu, 22 Dec 2005 16:40:28 GMT
-

Dear Rock ,

In your posting Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy from Tue, 20 Dec 2005 18:54:01 -0800 you write:

>
> Juergen wrote:
>
>>>Unless you know what you are doing, registry cleaners, as you have >>>experienced here, cause more problems than they help. Avoid them.
>>>
>>>--
>>>Rock
>>>MS MVP Windows - Shell/User
>>>
>>
>>
>> I'm using regcleaners for many years and they have deleted >> thousands of unnecessary data. The powertoy has 2 problems:
>> - permanently necessary data is stored in temp folder
>> - deinstallation routine is trash. Program is not able to realize >> a correct new installation. Not clean deleted reginformation >> avoids that.
>>
>> Jürgen
>
> They are unnecessary in XP, benign in some conditions, harmful in others.
>
> --
> Rock
> MS MVP Windows - Shell/User
>
I don't share your opinion, I think it's not true.
Juergen

—

Spam protected message from:
Sent by jschoenfeldt from gmx part from de
Posted via <http://www.usenet-replayer.com>

.

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy
◇ From: Rock

 - References:
 - ◆ Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy
◇ From: Rock
 - ◆ Re: Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy
◇ From: Juergen
 - ◆ Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy
◇ From: Rock

 - Prev by Date: Re: switching to cd bootup?
 - Next by Date: Re: Client Server Setup
 - Previous by thread: Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy
 - Next by thread: Re: Desktop Manager Powertoy
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread