Also for any of you XP Home users whose links in Outlook Express break. You will have to reinstall your firewall and antivirus software. Might wana reinstall adaware as well.

Thanks Wes, unfortunately Ive done all of those fixes but one. The first link
(<http://www.fjsmjs.com/OE/nolinks.htm>)
says to:

Do the regsrvr32 thing blah blah. Lol, Ive done all of this except the
one point:

5. If you are using WinXP try this:
http://www.mvps.org/sramesh2k/reg/IE\_Default\_Browser.reg

Then I get a long long list of registry entries.
Am I suppose to import
this file or work the list from top to bottom.
This is a big file. And thank you for responding.
