How will Windows Update know the difference?

Alias

For customers who have already applied the update and are experiencing the problem related to the older Hewlett Packard Share-to-Web software, or older NVIDIA drivers prior to or including version 61.94, the revised update will be available through Windows Update and Microsoft Update. The targeted re-release will be automatically delivered to affected computers through Automatic Update if it has been enabled. The re-release will not be distributed to non-affected computers.

Microsoft Baseline Security Analyzer (MBSA) 2.0 will also determine if one of the identified third-party COM controls has been installed and will offer the revised security update.

For Microsoft Baseline Security Analyzer (MBSA) 1.2.1, the detection logic has been updated to offer the revised package only to machines that do not have the initial security update installed. MBSA 1.2.1 cannot be used to determine if the identified third-party COM controls have been installed. In this situation, we recommend either a manual or Group Policy install of the revised security update.
